How to get your personal, custom-made earpiece(s) for the Phonak ComCom system

The custom-made earpiece is a personal device and needs to be modeled specifically for the individual users ear.

How to choose right or left ear:

Order additional earpieces through www.reftools.ch

The earpiece comes marked with the initials of the user for better identification and comes also along with a unique code, so additional earpieces can be ordered at any time again. The unique code can be found on the label stored in the back of the ComCom pouch. It looks like: AA __ C010.
